Queen Mary I Ascends Throne

Reigns Over H-C Festivities With All-Senior Royal Court

Mary Hoh will be crowned queen of Wartburg's 1955 Homecoming festivities this afternoon during the halftime ceremonies of the Wartburg-Parsons football game. Mrs. Ted Fritschel, nee Nancy Graese, last year's reigning monarch, will perform the coronation rites.

Attending Queen Mary I will be an all-senior court of Edith Fiderschrader, Delores Gayer, Jean Pfeifer and Jacqueline Reents. Revealed at Kastle Kapers last night, Queen Mary will preside at all Homecoming events, including the banquet tonight and the Queen's reception Sunday afternoon from 4-6 in Centennial Hall Lounge.

Escorting the queen and attendants will be five "W" Club members. Bob Hildebrandt, senior; Fritz Fritschel and Norm Scott, juniors; John Adix, sophomore, and Craig Wason, freshman.

A 1953 "W" queen, Mary was an attendant on last year's Homecoming court. A senior from Clintonville, Wis., she is majoring in elementary education. She served on the Parish Mission Builders team last summer and leads a Bible Discussion Group. A member of Future Teachers and the Student Union Council, she sings in the Wartburg Choir.

"Thrilled beyond words" was her comment when informed that she had been elected Homecoming regent. The attractive Wisconsinite's future plans include a June wedding to Charles Buse.

LUTHER HALL stands as a landmark of one of "President Parish's" theme at the 1955 Homecoming. Gaily decorated buildings all over the campus flared forth with such headlines as "Welcome Friends" and "Paddle Parsons."

SBP DON MANTHEI stands like a Knight of old, readying himself and his steed to lead the 1955 Homecoming Parade. Centennial Hall's float, consisting of red and white napkins, pictures the American flag.

By 4-1 Vote, SB Approves Campus Chest; 40% Cast

By a four to one margin, the student body approved a campus community chest at convocation Thursday. With only 40 per cent of the students casting ballots, 272 polled favorable votes while 68 voted negatively.

The Student Senate will good next week to select a chairman and draft the chest's constitution for the drive.

Under the plan approved by the student body, the nonprofit chest will include a general board composed of three representatives from each class, a chairman and the student body vice president.

Closed Sets Budget

Priorities of the board will be to set up a budget, determine who participates and be in charge of organization of the campaign. All fund decisions must be confirmed by the Senate.

Manthei Pleased

Student Body Pres. Don Manthei expressed satisfaction over the favorable vote and asked students to remember their obligations to the project.

SB Vice Pres. Elder Woodhouse, who headed the special committee which planned the prospectus of the drive, commented, "I feel a community chest fills an important need on the campus, a need that has been lacking in the past."

Little Mary Not So Contrary

By Martha Arbert

Behold your queen!

Mary Hoh, brown-eyed regent of Wartburg's 1955 Homecoming festivities drew a deep breath and exclaimed, "I'm as thrilled as a queen could be—and the feeling is marvelous! I couldn't have a nicer royal court or a more wonderful honor."

She had just learned of her selection as Homecoming queen.

Ever as winsome as the "Little Mary" of the Mother Goose nursery rhyme, Mary's air of soft self possession is neither impregnable nor is it popular with the student body even though she has the rather impressive rule of checking on occasion attendance.

Gentleness governed by an air of quietness, Mary's only visible sign of perfection is curly mop, she says. Her eyes glittering like silver bells, Mary said that she was thrilled "simply beyond words" for her royally acquired charms.

Royal Court Best of Friends

The queen's royal court must have established a close friendship among themselves, since all share the same dorm quarters, Kotha Hall.

"We're all the best of friends," said the lovely brunette regent. "I'm just sorry there couldn't be more queens."

Mary is an active queen. Studying for her bachelor of science degree in education, she is prominent in extracurricular activities, which include FTA, secretary of Wartburg Choir, Bible Discussion Group and Union Council secretary.

This past summer Mary travelled throughout the United States with the Choral Mission to Mexico. She takes a keen interest in people and particularly enjoys working with sports and recreation seminars.

Clarinville, Iowa, is the attractive coed's home. Hobbies include sewing and music. She signed up for all three sports Queen on 1950 and was a Hoofbeats attendant last year.

Following graduation this spring Mary is planning a social worker in Chicago area. Wartburg beckons her back after which she hopes to take up elementary teaching.

Attendants to Mary are seniors Edith Bader, schoolgirl; Delores Geyer, Joan Fischer and Jacqueline Beeske.

"Homecoming Never To Be Forgotten"

"This is one Homecoming I'll never forget," remarked Edith, who is also studying elementary education. "I've had a wonderful time."

Delores, a home economics major, said, "I feel it's a grand honor to be chosen to serve on the queen's court."

Being an attendant to my roommate is really an added thrill, contributed Joan, Chairman for the Homecoming banquet. She added, "It's an honor just to be among the five queen candidates."

"It's a wonderful feeling," Jacqueline's comment was. "It's a wonderful feeling to know that your schoolmates think so much of you."

All the girls joined in saying that this was an extremely successful Homecoming and that it was made possible only by the fine cooperation of the entire student body.

MARY HOH BEAMS as she first learns that she has been chosen to reign over Wartburg's 1955 Homecoming.

Kastle Kapers Touches Off Homecoming

Windows Tell Geometric Tale

By Varie Gay
TRIUMPH Feature Writer

Three soldiers who lost their lives in World War I are memorialized in the stained glass windows in the Danforth Chapel of the Student Memorial Union. A gift of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Dayton, the windows are made of imperfect glass.

Some of the others from the Treanor congregation are Rupert and Richard Wagner, and Rainer Hatke.

Made of hand-blown European flash glass, the windows are similarly Hatke and Wagner. Combined they represent the spiritual heritage of college youth. Symbolism is seen in the Christ figure, virtue in the left panel and knowledge in the right one.

In each window the theme is depicted in four circular lunettes. Beyond the Christ figure, special representing Christianity, is the interwoven cross and the triangle of the Holy Trinity.

Testaments In Tablets Of Law

The Old Testament is pictured in the tablets of the law. Below the tablets are a pair of hands and two lamps. The tablets are surrounded by the cross of Christ and the triangle. Three two show the triumph of Christ as the central message of the New Testament (Christ) through atonement.

Virtue, the theme of the left panel, is also carried out in four lunettes, each devoted to one of the cardinal virtues considered as ideals for youth. Temperance or sobriety is pictured as a tree being uprooted by a shower of rain, illustrating the idea that youth's passions must eventually be controlled by reason.

Strength, courage and endurance are represented by an oak tree with storm in the second panel. A pair of scales depict justice and equity in the third panel. The fourth panel shows a lamp illuminated, symbolizing the thinking, working Quadrivium Traditional Subjects

The Quadrivium—astronomy, music, arithmetic and geometry—were the traditional liberal arts subjects of the medieval university and are used to symbolize knowledge in the right window of the chapel.

Subjects are attached to the sun, moon and stars, music by the harp, arithmetic by the lamp and geometry by a compass. Astronomy, music and geometry represent the quadrivium.

Quadrivium still exists in universities. It is suitable and fitting place for the window symbolism.

Make Cooperation Consistent Theme

What is it that builds buildings? wins football games? constructs prize winning floats? makes Homecoming a success? completes this newspaper?

The answer to these questions would probably be a quick thing of the shoulders and a hesitating "Why — people—what else?" Certainly that is part of the answer, but by no means is this single two-syllable word sufficient.

In constructing a building, one of the first essentials is the existence of interested alumni. Not ask the president of this institution if a quarterback is necessary on a championship football team, but picture his position if he were shut out of the field and with no coach assisting him from the sidelines.

Chairmen are indispensable to a committee, or else it would take a committee even longer than it does now to accomplish something. And it isn't even necessary to describe the position of an editor without a staff.

Delegated leaders are imperative to success—but their success is wholly dependent upon assistance from other individuals. Remove the members from a body and the body is rendered helpless.

Therefore, vital in the realm of success and accomplishments is cooperation. Cooperation is the way that has unlocked the doors to countless dreams and forever closed the doors marked "failure and disappointment."

This isn't a new idea. From the birth of time, apothegms which emphasize the importance of cooperation among individuals have been passed on.

"Many hands make light work."

"By mutual confidence and mutual aid, great deeds are done and great discoveries made."

"Three helping one another bear the burden of six."

"The work divided is in that manner shortened."

To whom these eternal truths should be attributed is irrelevant. The important point is that they are eternal truths, and the substance of these age-old maxims—that cooperation is indispensable to progress and a better world—must never be forgotten.

Cooperation can be, and often is, spasmodic. Nearly everyone arises to praise big occasion, but afterwards too many lapse off into quiescence. To be effective, cooperation must consist of a continuous, steady flow.

Homecoming is a big occasion. The student body has risen admirably to the call, readily cooperating with committee chairmen and appointed leaders.

While this spirit of cooperation dies a slow and agonizing death remains to be seen.

Homecoming In Style Again

It's Homecoming season again. Parades, football games, bonfires, coronation, and all the other things that give a meaning to Homecoming are to be found on college campuses all over.

Homecoming at Wartburg is there and so is many Homecomings that must be copied, but it is also a time for something quite unique, individualistic and distinctly "Wartburg Homecoming." Not every Homecoming at every school contains an age old distinctive school third which is not only unique but perfect.

Of course, there are always the old faces returning to be greeted by the new and the new faces to be greeted by the old. But parades are always different. The football team is supposed to win, the queen and her court are always pretty, the alumni return to overfeed their folks.

But these events are associated with every Homecoming, and they are aspects awarded by students and alumni alike.

The real meaning of Homecoming lies behind these gay activities. Homecomings reach back into time and reference is made to those who are no longer with us.

That first year in college and initiation are brought back. These pranks — they weren't always funny at the time — are recommemorate. The fun you had in those extracurricular activities. And Homecomings — you can't help but recall how they were when you were in school.

And then the college has grown — even since the last Homecoming you attended. To think that you attended that school when it was struggling to survive. And now it is growing by leaps and bounds. Or is it does a school ever grow up?

Whether a college grows or not is unimportant. The fact that you attended this college is important. And your being proud of this year's Homecoming celebration is an extra special occasion for us.

Welcome home, former Knights.

Footnotes To Faith:

Strengthened Through Him

By Elder Winchorn

A story is told of a small boy who was trying very hard to lift a heavy rock. Finally, he gave up and looked around for someone to help him. And so John, Jr. was asked, "Didn't you try your very hard?"

Yes, I did, the boy replied, rather emphatically.

"Didn't you ask Me?" he asked.

This simple illustration points out the type of thing it is happening daily in our American society. It is self-sufficiency and individual accomplishments, which in a large part determine our attitude in society today.

Winchorn

"This attitude is in sharp contrast with which this one is."

Self-trust, however, was not the young fellow attempted to be self-reliant. He had yet to grasp the wisdom of working together with others.

I am sure most of us have been associated to the great work we have learned to share a lot of our burdens with our fellow man. Even in our spiritual life, most of us have from time to time turned to Christ, realizing our utter insufficiency without Him.

It is however, in the realm of the spiritual that we need to be reminded again and again of our human limits. It is of basic importance to realize that our accomplishments are possible only through the grace of God.

As a result of this realization, we have a vital religious force in the Christ Christ for this strength which comes through Christ. Christ is the living Head of the church and Savior of all Christians. Christ is also our Lord and King with Paul, we can say, I can do all things in Christ who strengthen me."

Ost Lauds Help Of Other Committees

By Harold Korts
TRUMPET News Editor

"I don't think you'll see any grey hair."

General Homecoming chairman Milt Ost ran his hand through his hair and then added, "But I would say in about two weeks of solid sleep."

Seated at his desk in the lower floor of Grossmann Hall, Ost yawned and then continued, "It takes a lot of work but other people got wonderful committees working as hard as mine have worked for me, it's really a pleasure."

Ever since last spring when he was elected, Ost has been busy working on the H-C festival. A junior from Beulah, S.D., he plans to enter the military after graduating from Wartburg.

Not Done Yet

Although officially ending his duties with Homecoming, Ost won't wind up final details until the middle of November.

"Actually things have been running fairly smoothly. My only real headache has been getting speakers lined up, but that worked out fine."

Ost looked up a copy of the latest issue of the TRUMPET and pointed to Knight Beat. "Looks certainly wasn't exaggerating, in his column last week. I feel that tired."

Active On Campus

Active in campus affairs, Ost is a president of Beulah and is pledging when I saw him, a member of the "W" club, he lettered in track.

"You know, he concluded, when I saw how lucky I was to have such good committee chairmen, committee members and everything else, I wish I could mention everybody. It really makes me happy."

CAUGHT IN AN unusual position—studying—Milton Ost tries to keep up on his daily studies.

Despite losses three straight losses, Wartburg remains a threat to Parsons only left the Knights have been known to rise to the

I'm Not The Coach, But . . .

Stack Wrecker

The man largely responsible for lifting this school out of its football doldrums has been Coach Norm Parmenter.

Currently in his fifth year as head coach of Wartburg's grid team, Mr. Jerry crew-cut mentor has directed his charges to a conference crown, winning the northern half of the Iowa Conference in 1953, and a consolation prize placing second to Luther last year.

Referred to by players and students alike simply as "Jerry" he considers his greatest triumph to be the 14-6 verdict over Luther in 1953.

"That was an example of a well-rounded team," he recalled. "That was also the year we won the conference title." He pointed out then added, "Competition among team members is vital in producing a championship team."

Father of two children, both boys, Mike, 7, and Barry 5 — he believes that enthusiastic, student body spirit is instrumental in producing winning athletic teams.

"Oftentimes students will back only a winning team," he observed, "when actually it is the loser that needs the help."

In reference to Iowa Wesleyan's Homecoming tie with previously unscheduled and tested Luther last weekend, he said, "During a big event like Homecoming — sometimes students will generate enough spirit to carry their team to victory despite great odds."

The spirit of this sentiment is recognized by a glance at past Wartburg Homecoming records found elsewhere in this issue.

"The best football team I've coached," related he, "was last year's squad. That team really displayed teamwork. And it lasted for the whole year."

The best all around player that I've coached here at Wartburg is probably Lutscher (Wendy). He's a wonderful player, and he possesses a remarkable will to win."

Hampered by injuries to key performers this year, he doesn't try to cover up for the poor showing of his gridders.

"It works both ways," he explained. "For instance, take Schulte (Jack) away from Luther, and she'd be in trouble too."

As well-liked by his players. He is appreciated by students and alumni alike. And he demands — and gets — the proper respect from opposing teams.

By Orle Kepitke
TRUMPET Sports Editor

Wartburg's overall gridiron record since 1935, the year the Knights began playing football on a large scale, may not be impressive, but its Homecoming record has been spectacular.

Playing on its Homecoming games, Wartburg has piled up 11 victories, tied two games and lost six. The Knights scored a total of 279 points in their opponent's 32 points in these games.

Here is a recap of Wartburg's Homecoming football games:

Oct. 24, 1936—Wartburg 24, Northwestern 0—Two late scoring drives of 70 and 54 yards on the final quarter gave Wartburg its first Homecoming victory.

Oct. 22, 1937—Wartburg 28, Wisconsin Mines 0—Led by the powerful running of Carl Kilbrowner the Knights pounded out a decisive victory over the Wisconsin Miners, dropped over the Parkersburg Miners.

Oct. 15, 1938—Wartburg Point 3, Wartburg 0—Despite Knight determination to win its third Homecoming, thinks the visiting Parkersburg attack of Perry paid off.

Oct. 21, 1939—Wartburg 6, Buena Vista 6—An accurate toss from Emmerson to Marvin Petersen climaxed a sustained 85-yard drive early in the fourth quarter and gave the Knights a tie with the Beavers.

Oct. 12, 1940—William Penn 7, Wartburg 0—The Quakers again played the role of spoilers in Wartburg's Homecoming game as they won a hard-fought defensive battle, 7-0.

Oct. 18, 1941—Wartburg 7, Buena Vista 0—A record crowd saw Wartburg beat its every opponent, outplaying, fly and winning its third home encounter the annual Knight Homecoming in 1937. The victory brought headlines from all over. Even the Chicago Tribune had a photo of Wartburg's Ken Jones, who was a Chicago native.

Oct. 25, 1942—Wartburg 7, Buena Vista 0—Ken Jones scored the fourth straight victory without a defeat and left Ames with an injured ankle. Accompanied by Versteeg, left halfback Dillman. Allen scored one touchdown and passed for two more as Wartburg scored almost at will.

Wartburg dropped football during 1943.

Oct. 21, 1944—Wartburg 6, Simpson 0—The Knights scored in the initial stanza as Bill Hanson ripped through the line for the score. Oct. 20, 1945—Wartburg 26, Luther 0—Wartburg's hard-driving ground attack rolled up another victory on a battle of the Homecoming grounds. Four scores and Don Paulin, land-scaring backs, were 300 standouts on the day.

Oct. 19, 1946—Wartburg 12, Buena Vista 7—Trailing 7-6 with 3 minute left to play, the Knights staged one of their most brilliant drives of the season. Starting at their own 20, they took 10 plays to score in the last line seconds on a pass from quarterback Big Jim Seefeldt and William Rutter.

Nov. 1, 1947—Wartburg 27, Luther 20—With the second half well under way, Wartburg trailed 20-6. The Knights were down but not out as they battled back to tie 20-20. Then with only 40 seconds remaining, quarterback Dwight Doublin tossed a long lateral to Jim Hanson who occupied seven yards for the score and another Homecoming victory.

Oct. 23, 1948—Wartburg 26, Simpson 13—The Knights started strong, scoring a big 20 yard run in first ball and then added three more touchdowns. Sophomore Steve Sarles was selected as player of the week for his fine performance.

Oct. 15, 1949—Wartburg 21, Westmar 7—Trailing for only a few minutes in two and one half minutes, the Knights roared into high gear to take their ninth straight Homecoming game. 21-7 Wartburg outscored Westmar 207 yards to 42 yards.

Oct. 14, 1950—Buena Vista 25, Wartburg 13—Wartburg's gridiron Knights lost their first Homecoming game in 16 years as they bowed to a powerful BV team. Ed Kettleson and Harry Shakelford were the key plays in this contest. End Pete Steinhauer grabbed a record seven catches in this game.

Oct. 27, 1951—Luther 34, Wartburg 0—Displaying a polished offensive machine and defensive ability, the Norsemen bowed to this contest with a score. The Knights were unable to stop Hans Petersen, Luther quarterback, who completed seven of 11 passes.

Oct. 18, 1952—Wartburg 14, Buena Vista 12—Leathers, the most memorable event in this game victory. BV came before in seconds but had been kicked off the clock. UIU Rugged Ground Attack Edges Knights In Squeaker

Oh, Oh—O'Brien (John) heads into the dusty turf of UIU's Dornick Field.

By Gary Blohm
TRUMPET Sports Writer

Upper Iowa University's tight offensive game and rugged ground attack paid off for coach John E. (Doc) Dorman as his Peacocks edged the Knights, 7-6, at the UIU field last Saturday.

Coach Doc Dorman, in his 40th year as head Upper Iowa football coach, got the Peacocks thirsty for an UIU's Homecoming festivities with the one point decision.

Scoring Contest

Both teams remained scoreless until the final period when Wartburg marched from its own goal line to the Peacock one from a few Art Martinson scored on an end run. Stan Kuehlsen's extra point attempt was blocked—and the game was the undoing of the Knights.

Grass Plot Dominated

Although Wartburg scored in TD football, the game was controlled on the Peacock football field thirsty into the center of the aerogenic Dornick golf course lasted the play.

Not only did the Peacocks carry from the contest, but they also gained possession of the traditional Hawkeye Jug, which is a football trophy between Wartburg and Upper Iowa. The Jug was donated in 1948 by the two schools by the Chicago Great Western Railroad.
